Mrs. Evelyn Gibson, assistant postmistress at Perrytown, four miles east of Hope, writes The Star:

"We received Saturday's and Monday's Star in Tuesday's mail. Monday I got back the mail I had sent out the night before. Also, this Tuesday morning I got back mail I had sent out Monday night."

"Several persons have threatened to stop subscriptions to The Star sent through the mail."

Dr. Lester Sitzes, Hope dentist, reports that a case memorandum mailed by his laboratory man, Al Hayes, in Pine Bluff, May 13 didn't reach Hope until May 17—four days to cover a little over 100 miles.

If you have anything to add to this comedy of errors send it in promptly so I can include it in my tale of woe for some lawyer.

I note from the Wall Street Journal that the name of the company which owns almost a million dollars worth of land in the Fulton-McNab area, where a paper mill was once projected, has been changed.

An advertisement in the WSJ says that U.S. Plywood-Champion Papers, Inc., henceforth will be called Champion International.

Here's a note from Ernie Deane, Journalism Department, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville—former roving correspondent for Arkansas Gazette:

"I'm much pleased to see you're making George Smith your managing editor. He's doing a really great job with the weekly Baxter Bulletin at Mountain Home and will do one for your daily."

I hate to see him leave the Ozarks region, but am surely pleased he's getting a shot at daily newspapering in Hope.

I was saddened by the death of Paul Jones, who worked his way up the journalistic ladder in the old tradition and was a fine man."

Ernie always has taken a special interest in Southwest Arkansas. But this isn't strange—Ernie is a native of Lewisville.

Hurst Promises to Cut Spending

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs, Democratic candidate for governor, said Tuesday that if elected he would drastically cut the amount spent on data processing during his first term in office because a "computer explosion" in state government was costing taxpayers at least $9 million a year.

In some state agencies, Hurst said in a prepared statement, the total expended on computer operations was growing at the rate of about 8 per cent a year. He said a study by his staff of 27 state agencies using data processing equipment revealed "inflated payrolls, duplication of effort and waste."

He said there were 190 data processing positions in the 27 agencies that paid from $8,000 to $17,000 a year and that 26 per cent of the positions were in the Department of Finance and Administration.

By comparison, Hurst said, the state Auditor's office, which is charged with issuing every payroll and expense warrant of every state agency, had annual equipment rental costs of $45,000 and a personnel appropriation of $37,932.

"Despite the lavish sums expended by the Department of Finance and Administration on their own data processing equipment and personnel they are unable to get the job done without help," Hurst said.

Hurst said inefficiency in handling the state's data processing needs is "robbing the teachers of pay raises and the cities and towns of desperately needed funds."

Arms Limitation Deal With Russia Is Believed Near

Offensive Arms Freeze Proposed

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — President Nixon, near final agreement with Soviet leaders on a pact to limit strategic arms, joined Premier Alexei N. Kosygin today in signing an agreement aimed at putting American and Soviet space explorers into orbit together by 1975.

At the same ceremony, Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Vladimir Kirillin, chairman of the Soviet committee for science and technology, signed still another accord calling for U.S.-Soviet cooperation in scientific and technological fields.

Under the terms of the strategic arms limitation pact, it was learned, the two countries will join in a treaty limiting deployment of defensive antiballistic missiles and will sign an executive agreement freezing the current number of land-based missile-launching platforms while allowing the Soviets to catch up with an American lead in missile launchers at sea.

Under the SALT pact, it was understood, each country could go ahead with replacement of present-generation offensive missiles as technology permits, but would not be allowed to increase their number.

The President emerged briefly from the Kremlin today for the first time since he arrived in Moscow Monday to place a wreath at the tomb of an unknown soldier killed in the defense of the Soviet capital in 1941.

Endorses Bumpers

ALMA, Ark. (AP) — The Alma News-Herald Tuesday endorsed Gov. Dale Bumpers for a second term.

Editor Neil Bradley said Bumpers was the "candidate two years ago who had plans for the state" and that he and his people had been putting them to work.

The paper said another term for Bumpers should give him time to be "more brightly polished, more seasoned in our political ways and perhaps ready to accept the higher place in our nation's capital."

McGovern Shaping Up as No. 1 Democrat

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
Sen. George McGovern has won the final political warm-ups, and now the Democratic presidential game is called California. It could be decisive.

The stakes are high, its primary campaign is costly and difficult—and if past performance is a guide, California voters may not be persuaded by the preliminaries.

There are 17 presidential primaries behind the campaigners now. They have transformed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie from a winter favorite into a springtime also-ran. They have helped catapult South Dakota's McGovern out of the field and into a hefty lead in terms of delegate commitments. They have awarded Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey his first primary victories in a presidential campaign career that dates back a dozen years. And they have proved the Democratic voter in a mood for protest—Gov. George C. Wallace has won six primaries and often ran strong when he lost.

The form chart to date: McGovern won Tuesday in Oregon and Rhode Island, ear-

Trial Date Set

MCGHEE, Ark. (AP) — A Circuit Court jury deliberated for more than 12 hours before returning a verdict of innocent Tuesday in the first-degree murder trial of Tommy W. Blankenship, 30, of McGehee.

He was charged with the 1970 beating death of his pregnant wife, Sandra, 24. Blankenship said he found her body with a rifle across it early on the morning of July 1, 1970.

In an earlier trial on the charge, a mistrial had been declared when the jury reported it was unable to reach a verdict.

Check Summit Rooms for Microphones

S. security agents made careful search of rooms for eavesdropping devices. President Nixon moved into his temporary headquarters in the Kremlin, informed sources confirmed today.

The sources were reluctant to discuss details of the U.S. security measures for the first visit of an American president to the Soviet capital. They insisted that no extraordinary precautions were taken.

But wherever the President goes, be it Chicago or Moscow, one of the items on the security checklist is an inspection with sophisticated devices to make certain his private conversations are kept private.

The check in Moscow was carried out by agents in the advance contingent which arrived weeks before Nixon. In addition to searching for electronic bugs, the specialists checked out such other details as the quickest route to the nearest hospital.

The visible show of U.S. Secret Service bodyguards during Nixon's Moscow visit has been no greater than on any of the President's visits to cities in the United States.

The same is true for Mrs. Nixon's security. When the First Lady visited a Moscow school Tuesday, her Secret Service agents were far outnumbered by Soviet plainclothesmen—including several who hovered around Mrs. Leonid I. Brezhnev, wife of the Communist party chief.

liar in Nebraska and Massachusetts, after his underestimated campaign took off with victory in Wisconsin.

Wallace was the victor in Michigan, Maryland, Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee and his own Alabama.

Humphrey's victories came in Pennsylvania, in Ohio, narrowly, and over Wallace in West Virginia and Indiana.

That leaves Muskie, which is just what the primaries did. He won in New Hampshire, but McGovern began cutting him down with a strong showing there. He scored in Illinois, then went nowhere.

His slim hopes of nomination now are pinned to a convention deadlock; he is out of the pri-

Vietnam War Untouched at Summit

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — President Nixon and Soviet Communist party chief Leonid Brezhnev are well embarked on their week of summit talks, but they have yet to give any direct indication of progress on the two issues claiming the widest world attention—arms curbs and the Vietnam war.

The President was scheduled to emerge from the Kremlin today to place a wreath at the tomb of the Soviet Unknown Soldier of World War II.

Mrs. Nixon who did the sight-seeing Tuesday while her husband stayed at the conference table, was bound for Moscow University, the big GUM department store and a night at the circus.

exclusively... the deployment of strategic weapons. Kremlinologists thought they saw a clue to progress in negotiating an arms curb in a small item in Pravda, the Communist party newspaper. Tuesday's edition carried a brief Washington dispatch quoting Sen. J. William Fulbright, the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, that he anticipated the signing of an arms agreement, during the Nixon's visit.

This was interpreted by some as indicating his view was shared in official Soviet circles. Before any weapons pact is initiated, however, the summit negotiators are likely to reach accord on trade and collaboration in exploration of space.

The summit bore its first modest fruits Tuesday with the signing of two agreements—for American-Soviet cooperation in combating killer diseases and environmental pollution.

Nixon and President Nikolai V. Podgorny signed the pollution accord at a brief ceremony in the Kremlin. Then Secretary of State William P. Rogers and the Soviet health minister, Boris V. Petrovsky, initiated the other.

The far-ranging pollution agreement covers reduction of urban noise levels as well as such obvious items as cleaning up the air and water.

And Humphrey, who has been campaigning there for a week, noted pointedly that "California is an arena all to its own."

There is a record to support that contention. Four years ago, former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy won the Oregon primary over the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and thought he had a big boost for California. Kennedy won the California primary the night he was assassinated.

Eight years ago, when the competition was Republican, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York captured Oregon's primary, went south and lost California to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

McGovern said Tuesday night that whether he can build his vote into a first-ballot presidential nomination hinges largely on whether he can win in California. He could have skipped the "largely."

Low-Cost Medical Aid for Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pointing to low incomes and high crime rates that apparently have caused professional shortages, the federal government says it will provide 122 areas of the country with low-cost medical and dental aid.

Fees will be charged on the basis of ability to pay, and treatment will be free to many poor patients—mostly minority group members.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said Tuesday it will assign 152 physicians, 20 dentists, 72 nurses and 44 other health aides to the selected areas in 39 states and the District of Columbia.

Rhode Island, Oregon Won by McGovern

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, an overwhelming victor in the Rhode Island and Oregon Democratic primaries, heads south today to battle Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey in California's June 6 showdown.

McGovern takes the momentum he sought, and he says that if he can win California with its 271 delegates, he might be able to wrap up the Democratic presidential nomination before the national convention opens July 10 in Miami Beach, Fla.

The two victories Tuesday gave McGovern 56 more delegates—22 in Rhode Island, 34 in Oregon—and he added 11 more from Missouri district meetings to swell his first-place total to 502½ of the 1,509 votes needed to capture the nomination.

In Rhode Island, where the South Dakota senator never campaigned but relied on his usual spirited volunteer organization and appearances by his wife Eleanor, he polled 41 per cent of the vote. McGovern's total was more than the combined sum for Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and Hubert H. Humphrey, who finished second and third.

In Oregon, where he was the only major candidate to campaign, McGovern's percentage hovered at about 50 per cent in an 11-candidate field. Gov. George C. Wallace, beneficiary of a substantial media campaign, while still hospitalized after being shot eight days ago, was a surprisingly strong second, with Humphrey third.

President Nixon easily won the Republican primaries in the two states.

"We have lots to celebrate tonight," McGovern told 500 cheering supporters at a downtown Portland hotel, "and two weeks from tonight, I want you to know we are planning a great celebration in the state of California."

Asked if he thought he could go to Miami Beach with the nomination wrapped up, McGovern said that "depends largely on whether we win in California two weeks from tonight." He added: "I expect to win in California after a hard effort."

He planned to fly to Sacramento to start his California drive with a speech to a Press Club luncheon on the problems of Mexican-Americans, the largest minority group in the state.

Like Humphrey, he pledged to appoint a Spanish-speaking American to his Cabinet and said he would fill California's first federal judicial vacancy with a Mexican-American.

There is a record to support that contention. Four years ago, former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy won the Oregon primary over the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and thought he had a big boost for California. Kennedy won the California primary the night he was assassinated.

Vietnam Paratroops Land on Enemy Soil to North of Hue

600 Russian Tanks Thrown in by Enemy

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. analysts estimate the North Vietnamese army has sent as many as 600 Soviet-built tanks into the Indochina war.

This is about twice the estimate used by Defense officials a month ago and apparently represents a refinement of intelligence since the big enemy spring offensive against South Vietnam began in late March.

South Vietnamese and U.S. military authorities have claimed destruction of well over 250 enemy tanks and other heavy tracked vehicles such as self-propelled artillery.

Some of these destruction claims, particularly by the South Vietnamese, are regarded with skepticism by certain U.S. analysts, although they acknowledge that South Vietnamese soldiers have scored well with a light, U.S.-supplied antitank rocket.

North Vietnamese use of armor and heavy artillery on a major scale for the first time in the war contributed significantly to enemy gains earlier in the offensive, particularly in the rout of the South Vietnamese 3rd Infantry Division at Quang Tri.

By now, a senior U.S. general said, "the South Vietnamese have gotten over the psychological shock of fighting eye to eye with tanks."

Rocket-firing U.S. helicopters and fighter planes have become more effective against North Vietnam's tanks as air crews have gained experience in dealing with them, the general said.

Senate Crushes Attempt to Strengthen Anti-Busing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has crushed attempts to strengthen antibusing provisions of a $23.1-billion higher-education bill.

Senate passage, considered likely this afternoon, would set the stage for a confrontation with the House which has tacked tougher antibusing provisions onto its version of the bill.

Three Killed

LEPANTO, Ark. (AP) — Three Paragould women were killed and a fourth person was injured early today in a one-car accident 3½ miles north of here on Arkansas 135.

State Police identified the victims as Mrs. Lorene B. Mason, 48, Mrs. Eunice Kaye Bollen, 57, and Mrs. Marie G. Jones, 49. Officers said Robert H. Jones, 50, of Paragould was seriously injured.

State Trooper Bill Rose said the accident occurred when a car driven by Mrs. Mason went out of control in a curve, ran off the highway and struck a tree.

No Chance USSR Trade on Troops

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — There is no chance the current Moscow summit talks will bring any change in the status of the American prisoners held by North Vietnam, administration officials say.

President Nixon is expected to bring the prisoner situation to the attention of Soviet officials during the summit discussions, the officials said, "but nothing that happens (in Moscow) will affect the POWs."

Hanoi "is holding them as hostages" in support of its demand that the United States give in to a North Vietnamese-dictated political settlement of the war, the officials said.

There is no evidence, the officials said, that the U.S. B52 bombers and three U.S. cruisers offshore bombarded the area before the landings. About a dozen U.S. Marine advisers accompanied the assault force.

Few Men Lost on the Initial Encounter

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. amphibious craft and helicopters landed nearly 2,000 South Vietnamese marines in enemy territory north of Hue today, and scores of American planes blasted North Vietnamese industrial plants in the Haiphong area in a new phase of the bombing campaign.

The 7th Fleet landing craft put one marine battalion ashore about 10 miles east of Quang Tri City. Carrier-based helicopters landed a second battalion about four miles inland, and a third battalion was airlifted in to the south to act as a blocking force.

The South Vietnamese command said the marines clashed with North Vietnamese forces seven miles east of Quang Tri; with air and naval gunfire support they killed 133 enemy troops, destroyed two tanks and captured 40 weapons and 20 tons of rice.

The command said first reports listed two South Vietnamese killed and nine wounded.

There were no reports of any American casualties.

The landing was made in the coastal strip of scrub trees and white sand which French troops in the 1950s dubbed the Street Without Joy because of the frequent ambushes they suffered there. It was the second such counterattack by the South Vietnamese Marines since Quang Tri province fell to the enemy on May 1.

U.S. B52 bombers and three U.S. cruisers offshore bombarded the area before the landings. About a dozen U.S. Marine advisers accompanied the assault force.

Senate Crushes Attempt to Strengthen Anti-Busing Bill

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has crushed attempts to strengthen antibusing provisions of a $23.1-billion higher-education bill.

Senate passage, considered likely this afternoon, would set the stage for a confrontation with the House which has tacked tougher antibusing provisions onto its version of the bill.

By a 44-26 vote Tuesday, the Senate defeated an attempt by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., to send the bill back to confer-vest much in that citizenry. The bill would set up a new program of student assistance designed to assure every high-school graduate a chance for a college education.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., one of the conferees, said he supports all the education provisions in the bill, but will vote against it because he fears it would slow school desegregation.

Javits referred to the House rider accepted by the Senate which would prevent any court busing orders from taking effect over the next 19 months until all appeals had been exhausted.

The other two House antibusing riders Griffin sought to retain would have barred use of any federal funds for busing to desegregate and would have directed federal officials not to require or induce a school district to use state or local funds for that purpose.

The bill prohibits busing over distances so long as to be harmful to children or which would move them to an inferior school.

The bill would establish the first general program of federal grants for all public and private colleges and universities.

Other sections would provide special funds for schools with desegregation problems, Indian education, vocational education, occupational education for high-school graduates, and colleges in serious financial straits; ban discrimination against women in admission and employment at institutions of higher education; and create a national institute of education to engage in research on how to spend school funds wisely.

Sen. John L. McClellan of Arkansas, left, and Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana push a lever activating the power house at DeGray Dam and Reservoir near Arkadelphia during dedication ceremonies Saturday. The area is expected to draw more than two million visitors this year. A $6 million recreation project for the area is to be completed by 1975 and will include a 100-room lodge, 20 cabins, 180 campsites, a 400-capacity restaurant, an amphitheater and an 18-hole golf course.

City Board Passes Rezoning Ordinance

The City Board of Directors held their regular scheduled meeting Tuesday night. The Board passed an Ordinance rezoning some property on the Eastside of South Edgewood Street about the 1300 block from R-1 Residential to R-3. This Ordinance was discussed at the regular meeting on May 9th and some opposition was expressed by property owners who would be affected by the change. The Board discussed the change in zoning again at a Special meeting on May 11th, and reviewed the Planning & Zoning Commission's reasons for recommending the change to R-3. The zoning change will allow an apartment complex to be built on the approximately 6½ acres affected. Present plans are for approximately 60 apartments to be built.

Bob Odom met with the Board to discuss dedication of street right-of-way and street paving in an area just inside the northern city limits. The area had never been platted, and he was asked to make some changes in his plans and then submit it to the Planning & Zoning Commission for their approval. A Resolution was passed approving an amendment to the original Urban Renewal Plans. The Amendment was suggested by the Urban Renewal engineers and a Public Hearing had been held on the change by the Housing Authority. John Hawkins and Don Walker presented a preliminary engineering report for Municipal Sewer Treatment facilities. Their plans and alternates were discussed at length. Each member was given a copy of the report for further study.

Parks Dept. Daycamp

The Hope Parks and Recreation Department will hold a day camp at the Fair Park for boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 10. The sessions for the camp will be two weeks for selected age groups. Ages grouped together will be determined by the number registered.

Activities for the camp will include arts and crafts, games, sports, and swimming. A fee of $1.00 per person for the day camp will be used for materials. Registration will be held Monday, May 29 from 9 to 5 at the Hope Youth Center.

sources stated, to indicate the Soviets could pressure a change in Hanoi's attitude even if they wanted to.

Nixon has made release of the POWs and an accounting of all missing Americans conditions for a total U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam and an end to the current mining and bombing campaign against the North.

In spite of the North Vietnamese refusal to move on the POW issue, officials in the State Department say there is no indication Hanoi retaliated against the American prisoners in the wake of the intensified U.S. military actions.

In fact, they say, the captives apparently are being well treated. "North Vietnam claims the treatment is good," one official said, "and that is confirmed by travelers."

The list of known prisoners has climbed from 491 before the North Vietnamese launched their invasion March 30 to 494 a week ago; the total of missing American troops increased 63 to 1,089.

In answering questions about effects on the families of American POWs of the President's bombing and mining of North Vietnam, the officials said "there has been growing dissatisfaction among the wives, but the militancy is not dovish, rather it's hawkish."

They are in favor of the President's action, by and large, the officials maintained, because it represents positive action, "which is what they want, short of the release" of the captives.

Highway Dept. Issues Reminder

Area residents are reminded there is a State Highway Commission policy prohibiting the erection of signs on the state highway right of way other than those signs designated by the highway department.

State Highway Commission Order No. 68-255 dated May 22, 1968 reads:

Whereas, the erection of other than official directional, informational and/or regulatory highway signs on highway rights of way is prohibited by law, and Whereas, in past election years numerous political advertisements have been posted on highways creating hazards to the driving public,

Now therefore, it is ordered that no political signs be permitted to be erected on the rights of way of roads on the State Highway System and that any such signs erected be promptly removed.

In a statement to The Star Tuesday, John Tallant, Resident Engineer with the State Highway Department, explained the department has removed numerous signs recently and will continue to do so. Tallant further stated, "It is regrettable that we have to police the right of way so rigidly during a campaign to keep these signs removed."

Showers Move Into State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The long, dry spell in Arkansas came to an end today as showers and thundershowers moved into the state.

A weak frontal system drifted eastward from Oklahoma during the night causing enough instability to trigger the precipitation.

The National Weather Service said the outlook for today called for considerable cloudiness and scattered showers with partial clearing by this afternoon and then showers re-developing by late today.

Continued warm temperatures were expected, with highs today in the 80s to low 90s.

Tuesday was another warm day with highs climbing into the 80s and 90s. Jonesboro and Little Rock tied for the warmest spot in the state at 93 degrees. The 93 at Little Rock tied a record high for the date set in 1970.

Overnight lows included 57 at Fayetteville, 57 at Harrison, 63 at Jonesboro, 70 at Pine Bluff, 61 at Texarkana, 63 at El Dorado, 65 at Memphis, 64 at Little Rock and 60 at Fort Smith.

Not All of Wallace Votes Secure

By DON McLEOD AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Of the 323 delegates George C. Wallace has won for the Democratic National Convention, only about one-third are really votes he can count on.

The rest are bound to him by state primary laws of tenuous hold. Their hearts—and their votes—may be elsewhere when the presidential nominating begins.

Some of them already are saying they will disregard the state laws binding them and vote for other candidates on the first ballot. Others indicate they will stray on the second or subsequent ballots when their commitments are satisfied. George McGovern looks like the leading beneficiary.

For example, Wallace won all 49 Tennessee delegates in that state's May 4 primary, but six of them already have said they will not vote for him at the convention.

In Maryland, a dozen of the delegates won by Wallace are really McGovern supporters tied to Wallace by the primary vote in their districts.

Current indications are that Wallace will hold the bulk of these through the first ballot, but McGovern is making an open effort to grab his share once they are no longer legally bound.

Other candidates also are expected to gain some delegates once Wallace's hold is broken.

The breakdown of delegates to those committed solidly to Wallace shows:

Tennessee 1, Maryland 3, Indiana possibly 5, Florida 67, Alabama 23, Louisiana 3 and Pennsylvania 2 for a total of 104.

Most Wallace delegates are bound for one or two ballots, but even this depends on how well he does on the first ballot. In most cases he has to get 35 per cent of the convention vote on the first ballot to hold them for the second. His current delegate strength is just over 10 per cent.

Another possibility being talked about by some McGovern strategists in these states is voting for Wallace on the first ballot and then switching at the end of the ballot before it is finalized if Wallace doesn't have 35 per cent.

Convention rules allow a state to change its vote after the roll call is completed, and the delegates would have fulfilled in one sense their commitment to vote for Wallace on one ballot.

Even so, the other candidates don't want to alienate Wallace or his supporters.

Consequently, McGovern has announced he is asking his supporters who find themselves Wallace delegates to vote for Wallace as long as they are committed.

Wallace has indicated he may stay with the party and support its nominee in the fall even if he is not nominated—under certain conditions of fair treatment at the convention. He also has indicated that delegate stealing might be one of those exceptions to fair treatment.

'Great,' Says Wallace, No. 2

By JANET STAIHAR Associated Press Writer SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama was awakened today to be told that he finished second in the Oregon presidential primary. "Oh, that's great!" Wallace enthused.

Doctors at the hospital, said the neurologic condition of Wallace's paralyzed legs remains unchanged. They have said they are encouraged by evidence of some involuntary reflex action in Wallace's feet and some sensation down to the mid-thigh region of both legs.

In today's report doctors said Wallace's temperature, blood pressure and kidney functions are all normal. They said he underwent exercises on a tilt table Tuesday without difficulty.

Wallace was told Tuesday by Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien of the Democratic National Committee that he will be welcome at the party's national convention in Miami Beach.

O'Brien and Wallace conferred for 20 minutes Tuesday at Holy Cross Hospital in near Silver Spring, Md., where Wallace is recuperating from bullet wounds. It was the first time Wallace has conferred with O'Brien during the governor's current campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination. Earlier in the year, O'Brien said he did not view Wallace as a bonafide Democrat because the governor's bullet lodged in the governor's spinal cord.

Billy Joe Camp, Wallace's press secretary, said after the meeting that Wallace's campaign staff will have accommodations in Miami Beach. He said the governor had no complaints about the facilities.

Camp also said doctors reported Wallace had as much reflex action in his paralyzed legs

Tuesday as he had Monday.

Doctors have reported a return of involuntary muscular activity in the toes of both feet. They also say there is some encouraging evidence of increasing sensation down to the mid-thigh of both legs.

Wallace was shot four times at a campaign rally in nearby Laurel, Md., on May 15. Camp said there has been no decision made yet as to when surgery will be performed to remove a bullet lodged in the governor's spinal cord.

The theft was discovered when a janitor found an open door and window in the usually locked room where the pieces were stored.

The shrine is named for a general who fled to Taiwan from the mainland when the Ming Dynasty fell in 1628.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Agent Needs Lesson in Tact

DEAR HELEN: Recently my insurance agent visited my home and announced, "You've outlived your life insurance."

Up until then I didn't consider 65 "old," but his words rang in my ears for days. Why couldn't he have said, "Your policy is about to come due?"

What I'm trying to say is persons shouldn't remind an elder of his age, such as, "You're eligible for Medicare, aren't you?" when perhaps you still have a couple of years to go (and think you look it).

I'm sure other older people agree. Why not ask them, Helen, and make a column of remarks they resent from the "youngerlies"?—E.T.

DEAR E.: Good idea! I asked—and I received! Here are a few remarks elderly people report they can do without:

"Haven't you retired yet?" Or (when a clerk is filling out a questionnaire on you: "You're retired, aren't you?" (You aren't!)

"My mother has this same little problem, too" (from your 50-year-old doctor who always tries to help you off the examining table when you can manage perfectly well by yourself, thank you).

"What do you expect, at your age?"

"We aren't getting any younger, you know."

"You mean you still do—at YOUR age?"

"And what can I show you today, young lady?" (from a young male shoe clerk).

"Gosh, you used to be good looking" (as young relatives pour through family albums).

"I'm sure you'll be interested in this wonderful, prepaid funeral plan...from a telephone solicitor."

"YOU never had any of the problems we young people face today." (THEY tell a product of the flaming '20s that sex was invented day before yesterday.) Or, "Back then, you had it easy."

Sure—we only had two major wars, prohibition gangsters, a depression, bread lines, things like that.

"You shouldn't be doing that—at your age." Anything from living alone to touring Europe, to considering marriage.)

"Remember, bones get brittle," as you are solicitously helped over an easy mountain path.

"Isn't it wild how they just LOVE to reminisce?" (When the daughter who whispered it ASKED you to tell the story.) Funny how you were once considered amusing and now you're jollied along as an eccentric.

And then there's the young-70-year-old I know who says his pet peeves are:

"People who speak louder and slower to anyone over 60."

"The woman who jumps up and gives you her chair the minute you enter the room."

"And all those 'geriatric' ads (vitamins, false teeth tighteners, etc.) you get in the mail—because 'big brother' out there knows it the minute you turn 55."

DEAR HELEN:

My friend's mother and father lived together for 25 years, but never bothered to get married, though they presented themselves as man and wife. She only found this out after her mother's death. If she is illegitimate, can she inherit from her father's estate?—CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: In your state (Texas) the children of a common law marriage (where the man and woman present themselves as man and wife) are considered legitimate and can inherit from either parent.

Laws vary from state to state. It's best to get legal advice about financial matters involved in a common law marriage situation.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Write to Helen Bottel care of this newspaper.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Television rolls along on a series of programming vogues—westerns, variety hours, private eyes, folks-next-door—as one type of entertainment is succeeded by a fad for another. But next season the network schedules appear to be fairly balanced and the newest trend seems to be in the form of programming.

It is "miniseries," as the trade calls, them—from four to eight programs on a related theme, run in succession or in rotation with companion programs.

They come in assorted sizes, shapes and themes, from the British import "The Six Wives of Henry VIII" to "Columbo," the eight-episode series that is part of NBC's "Mystery Movie."

They seem to have worked so well that next season there will be more of them—enough, in fact, to qualify the miniseries as a bona fide TV trend.

NBC, collaborating with a major film studio, started the trend several seasons back with "The Bold Ones." Originally it consisted of three independent series, each spinning seven or eight programs around the same characters, that were shown in rotation. A law-and-order segment disappeared at season's end. A courtroom series survived through this season. Next September, "The Bold Ones" will be down to one, a series about a team of doctors.

Meanwhile, however, NBC discovered that it had a series with replaceable parts, and it called the device "multiple programming." Its best success has been this season's "Mystery Movie," which consists of "Columbo," "McMillan and Wife" and "McCloud." It will be expanded to include a fourth element in September when it moves to Sunday nights. Joining the popular series will be Richard Boone playing "Hec Ramsey," a retired gunfighter in turn-of-the-century West.

The network will launch a new action threesome on Wednesday nights. This time it will be a New York police show with Richard Widmark playing "Madigan," "Banacek," starring George Peppard as a smooth private investigator; and "C.E. Million," with James Farentino (one of the lawyers of the defunct "Bold Ones" legal segment) as a very expensive private eye.

ABC has a trilogy of miniseries coming up in "The Men"—police action and James-Bond type tales on its Thursday night schedule. The network has added a switch of its own—every fourth Saturday it will show an episode of a new action show, "Kung Fu," in place of the returning western "Alias Smith and Jones."

Youth Got

What He Asked

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — You get what you ask in Cleveland Traffic Court—just ask 20-year-old David Ostrowski of Cleveland.

Ostrowski was stopped by police on the city's East Side Saturday and given a ticket for driving his motorcycle without goggles, as required by city law.

When Ostrowski appeared in court Monday, Judge Richard Matia fined him $25 and court costs. But Ostrowski wasn't satisfied and asked the judge: "Why don't you make it $35?"

Matia complied and Ostrowski continued his tirade until his fine had soared to $100 and court costs. Matia then tacked on a 10-day sentence in the Warrensville Workhouse because of Ostrowski's continual "complaining about abusive police and lack of justice in the court." Ostrowski then told Matia: "Why not make it 30 days?" The judge complied.

For Health's Sake

At a state university, all incoming students were required to have chest X-rays. But at least one young woman found this intolerable. In a court challenge, she argued:

"Having a chest X-ray is contrary to the principles of my religion. To require it is to violate my religious freedom, which is guaranteed by the First Amendment."

However, the court overruled her objection. Noting that X-rays can reveal tuberculosis and that tuberculosis is infectious, the court said:

"The regulation is purely for the purpose of discovery. It does not say you must be treated if you are ill; it only says if you are ill and (don't) know it, you cannot spread your infection to others."

Religious freedom, of course, ranks high in our constitutional system. But it does not outrank the necessities of public health. Said one judge:

"The health of the people is the first law."

Other freedoms, too, may be limited by considerations of health. In another case, a restaurant owner invoked freedom of enterprise to oppose the rules of sanitation laid down by city hall. But a court ruled that freedom of enterprise likewise must yield to the public weal.

"The danger to health," said the court, "renders the (restaurant) business a proper one for regulation."

Still, even health regulations must meet the test of reasonableness. One squeamish city council, worried about germs, passed a law flatly forbidding the sale of any second-hand clothes within the boundaries of the community.

But when this law was tested in court, it was held to be unconstitutional. The court said a total ban simply could not be justified, since lesser controls could protect the public perfectly well.

Putting the "health" label on an unreasonable law, said the court, did not make it reasonable.

22 Winning Bet Tickets Disappear

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 22 missing winning tickets, worth $10,000 could be the key to an alleged betting scandal and near-riot at Yonkers Raceway last June, a House committee was told Tuesday.

Appearing before the House Select Committee on Crime, Daniel Hollman described an investigation he made at Yonkers following the disturbance. Several hundred fans erupted when an exacta paid only $42 instead of an expected $150.

"They knew they had been had," said Hollman, former chief of the New York Joint Strick Force against organized crime.

The tote board, Hollman testified, showed the winner, Moonstone Bay, went off at 13 to one odds while Mr. Ace, who finished second was five to one.

"The only odds on the tote board is conventional betting," Hollman said. "At that time, exacta betting where you pick the first two horses in the race was not shown in the odds."

His investigation, Hollman told the committee, which is attempting to find links between organized crime and sports, showed an abnormal amount of winning exacta tickets were purchased by two groups of race horse owners and trainers.

"Of 170 winning $20 tickets," Hollman said, "65 were purchased by Frank popfinger, 20 by Veter Pratrass and 22 are still uncashed. Of the 170 winning tickets, 117 came from the paddock area."

Sammy Davis Jr. told the committee Monday that horse racing is the last business he wants to get into.

NBA Issues Suspension Warning to Players

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Most National Basketball Association teams have warned their players not to play in the scheduled NBA-ABA all star game under threat of suspension or fines, NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy said late Tuesday night.

The all star game, featuring the best of the NBA and American Basketball Association players, is scheduled Thursday night in Uniondale, N.Y.

Kennedy said most of the NBA club owners had informed him of their promised action to keep the players from participating in the contest, which was played for the first time last year. The commissioner said players were informed by registered mail.

Parts of the registered letter, said Kennedy, said, "Section 17 of your contract with us (the NBA club) denied you the right to participate in any exhibition game of basketball without written consent."

"Such consent has not and will not be granted for your participation in the so-called All-Star basketball game on May 25."

The letter further stated that application "will be made to the commissioner of the NBA that you be fined or suspended pursuant to Section 17" if a player went ahead to play in the game.

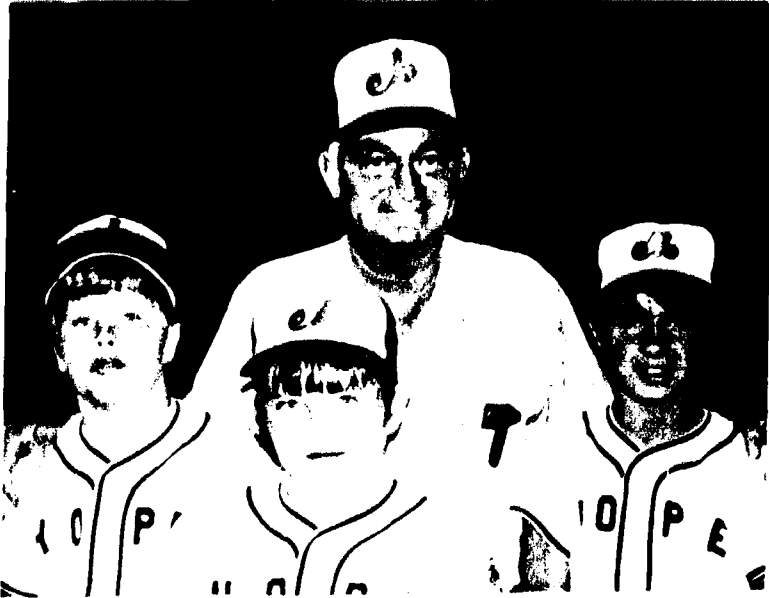

The NBA commissioner declined to disclose the number of club owners who threatened such action, saying only that most were involved.

The post-season clash between the rival leagues is being presented by the players associations of both leagues, and the respective teams were chosen by the votes of players in both the NBA and ABA.

Larry Fleischer, counsel of the NBA Players Association, said earlier Tuesday Jack Dolph, commissioner of the 5-year-old ABA had approved the game.

Fleischer had announced that the NBA squad would include

Haller Night at Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Haller hollered to Haller and Haller hollered back making the other Haller happy.

It was one of the few good moments for Detroit in its 3-0 loss to Milwaukee Tuesday night at Tiger Stadium.

Tom Haller was the Tigers' catcher.

Bill Haller, Tom's older brother, was the third-base umpire.

It was the first time Bill had worked a game in which Tom was playing in the major leagues—although it had happened in spring training before and in the minors.

In the third inning Brock Davis of the Brewers went partially around with his bat after having two strikes on him from Joe Coleman. Plate umpire Jerry Neudecker called it a ball.

That prompted Tom Haller to jump up and point to Bill at third, yelling for him to rule. Bill said Davis did swing and miss. Neudecker then changed his call to a strike three.

Bill was scheduled to umpire second base in tonight's game, and then first base Thursday in the last game of Detroit's current home stand.

"Was it planned that way so that he wouldn't work behind the plate, since maybe his brother might be catching during this series?" Tom was asked.

"No, it just worked out that way," Tom replied. "He was behind the plate in his game Sunday."

The Haller brothers had lunch together Tuesday but didn't talk shop.

"It's going to be ten times harder on him than it is on me," Tom said of the player-umpire game relationships.

Travelers Whip Cubs 5-4

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Trvelers rallied for three runs in the bottom of the ninth to whip the Midland Cubs 5-4 in a Texas League game here Tuesday night.

The big ninth began when Tony Auerio started it by popping a single to left against losing reliever Mike Young. Barry Poris followed with a hit through the hole to right.

Milt Ramirez's task was to move both runners, and he did with a perfect sacrifice that the third baseman had to handle, putting the tying runs on second and third with only one out.

Allen 'Called on Carpet', Redskins Fined $5,000

By MIKE RATHER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Naughty George Allen, who got caught with his draft choices down, has been subjected to what may have been the most embarrassing verbal reprimand in Pete Rozelle's 13-year reign as commissioner of the National Football League.

Rozelle revealed Tuesday night that Allen had been called on the carpet and his Washington Redskins had been slapped with a maximum $5,000 fine in two cases involving players acquired with draft choices the Redskins actually did not have.

It was the first time Rozelle ever had subjected a coach to a verbal reprimand before the NFL's executive committee—one executive from each of the league's 26 teams and left Allen curt when he was asked to comment on the case.

"It's all over," said the Redskins' general manager and head coach. "It's history. That's all I have to say."

Rozelle apparently laid far more words on Allen when he appeared before the executive committee. Rozelle said he stressed "the importance of adhering to league rules and policies."

"While the problem could have been unintentional in nature, such practices are cause for deep concern," Rozelle explained. "We wanted him to know that we can't have violations on rules that could affect the competitive aspect of the game."

In making that statement, Rozelle sidestepped the issue—whether hanky-panky was involved in the transactions in question—but the implication of the heavy fine and severe reprimand seemed to indicate that was at the heart of the issue.

The two cases involved Allen's acquisition of defensive back Rich Pettibon from Los Angeles and Speedy Duncan from San Diego after taking over the Redskins last year and beginning a series of 19 trades in which he acquired veterans for draft choices.

Allen used draft choices he already had traded to the New

Mets Lose to Cubs; First Loss in Dozen Games

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"It's a loss—but not the end of the world," Tug McGraw of the New York Mets shrugged.
"The law of averages didn't get me. They got me."

They were the Chicago Cubs and they got McGraw for a run in the eighth inning. That snapped a tie, giving the Cubs a 2-1 victory, and snapped the Mets back to reality.

It was their first loss in a dozen games, their second in the last 16 and only the ninth in the 33 games they've played this season.

In other National League action Tuesday, Pittsburgh blitzed
St. Louis 6-2, Montreal flipped
Philadelphia 6-2, Atlanta edged Cincinnati 2-1, Los Angeles topped San Francisco 8-5, and in a two-night doubleheader,
Houston swept San Diego 7-0 and 2-1.

The Cubs nicked New York starter Gary Gentry for a run in the fourth inning on a walk and singles by Paul Popovich and Ken Rudolph but the Mets, unable to handle Ferguson Jenkins' pitching for six innings, finally tied it in the seventh on a walk and singles by Tommie Agee and Rusty Staub.

Then came the eighth. Carmen Fanzone started the winning rally with a one-out single.

And when Popovich slammed a McGraw offering to right center field, Fanzone was off and running.

Staub, the right fielder, and Agee, coming over from center, converged on the liner and Staub made a lunging stab at the ball as it bounced up and toward the wall. Then he made a desperation play. Had it worked, it might have cut down
Fanzone steaming for the plate.
But not likely.

Staub, racing away from the infield and in no position to throw, flipped the ball at Agee as the center fielder sped by, hoping Agee might be able to gun it home. Agee wasn't prepared for it and the ball sailed over his head.

Despite the loss, the Mets

still hold a healthy five-game lead over second-place Pittsburgh in the National League East.

"It's a joy pitching for this ball club," Pittsburgh's Steve Blass said after the Bucs reeled off their eighth consecutive victory by capitalizing on St. Louis errors for a pair of three-run innings.

"You know they're going to score and they make the plays behind you," Blass said following his fifth victory. "You can't ask for more than that."

Gene Alley, Dave Cash and Vic Davalillo singled in secondinning runs after Cards' shortstop Ed Crosby opened the gates by booting Manny Sang-ullien's grounder. In the fourth,
Robert Clemente singled home
the final run.

Driver Gets "Ride of His Life"

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) —
Stock car racing's only black driver gets the ride of his life
Sunday in the World 600 courtesy of "an old white boy who knows what it is to be poor."

Wendell Scott has been a lone soldier on Dixie speedways for 25 years, wheeling junky cars at a turtle's crawl and praying to earn enough prize money to pay the bills.

But, when the 40-car field for the $153,530 World 600 cranks up at Charlotte Motor Speedway, the 50-year-old Virginian will rocket away in a Chevrolet capable of running alongside the superstars.

"After all these years of watching Richard Petty and David Pearson go past me, I can't imagine ole Wendell being' able to catch up," said
Scott, his mustache in an eternal twitch.

"It's like a dream. I always rode in the low groove, goin' about 130 miles an hour. Now I'm in the high groove with the hotshots ... at least for this week."

Richard Howard, operator of the Charlotte track, is the man who decided to make a big leaguer out of the aging also-ran from Danville, Va.

"I was born poor and have always been an underdog man," said Howard, a jolly 300-pounder who also owns a string of furniture stores and country
ham restaurants. "I get a kick out of doing stuff for poor folks and I don't know anybody poorer than Wendell."

It also happens to be good business. Howard freely admits that Scott's sudden appearance in a competitive machine will juice up his World 600 attendance.

"We'll top 80,000 for sure,"
said Howard. "Wendell Scott may be our biggest drawing card this week. He's got the deal of a big-timer and I'll be pulling like the devil for him."

Split Doubleheader Under Discussion

NEW YORK (AP) — Three of organized baseball's top officials were expected to meet here today in an attempt to solve the problem of split doubleheaders.

Chub Feeney, National League president, John Gahrtn, negotiator for the major league club owners, and Marvin Miller, executive director of the Player's Association, were to discuss the matter which arose when the Montreal Expos rescheduled a game rained out April 19 against the New York Mets for a split twinbill July 1.

Split doubleheaders are day and night games played on the same day but for which the clubs charge separate admissions. When the Mets' May 9 home game against Los Angeles was rained out, it was rescheduled as a day-night doubleheader May 11.

"There had been no split dou-

Frazier Prepares to Meet Stander

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Joe Frazier is not taking unranked challenger Ron Stander lightly, the champion's manager assured the press Tuesday.

"Joe has trained just as hard for this fight as he did for Jerry Quarry, Bob Foster or Muhammad Ali," Yancey Durham stated. "This fight is no different."

Frazier is rated a 10-1 favorite in Thursday's scheduled 15-round heavyweight title bout at Omaha's Civic Auditorium. The bout will be shown nationally by TVS over about 150 stations starting at 10 p.m. EDT.

"Joe will go into seclusion now, and just rest," continued Durham, who has sheltered Frazier from the press most of the week.

Challenger Stander of nearby Council Bluffs, Iowa, worked out at the Fox Hole gym, about 10 blocks across town from Frazier.

"I'm not going to make any excuses if I get beat," offered Stander.

bleaders in the National League in the last four years," said Miller, "none in New York and none in Montreal. This is an outrageous example of ignoring a contractual agreement."

John McHale, Expos president, has issued a two-page statement defending the split games on July 1. He said he is opposed to split doubleheaders "under normal circumstances," but that the rescheduling arrangement "made it not only feasible, but preferable..."

He explained that a two-night doubleheader June 30 would have posed a hardship on Montreal players fresh from a road trip which ends the night before. And a two-nighter the day of the split games would have been a burden since the teams play the next day.

Miller, however, didn't agree and asked, "Why couldn't they schedule a day doubleheader July 1 instead of a night one?"

Lions Club Meets

BILL WHITE

CHARLES MUNN

Hope Lions heard a progress report Monday at the Town and Country from officials of the Tennessee Forging and Steel Company in a program arranged by Lion Jack Caldwell.

The new plant is under construction at Oakhaven and when completed will have about 119,000 square feet under roof. Two of the buildings will be 600 feet long. These will house the assembly and welding lines where the principal product; open web joists will be made.

Bill White spoke first, describing the work under way and the physical plant. He stated that they hoped to be in production by the fourth week in June 1972. The workers now number about 25 and are engaged in a training program and they are pleased with progress being made.

Charles Munn explained that the Hope plant would be called Tex-Ark Joists, a Division of Tennessee Steel Forging Service.

The joists will be made to the customer's specifications and needs, and will be made in groups considered short, medium, and long. The short and medium lengths will be made of angles with round iron webs while the long joists will have angle iron webs for the added strength needed. The longer spans will be eighty feet or more.

Mr. Munn said that rail and highway facilities were really important since the steel they fabricate will come from Newport, Arkansas and a plant in Texas, and joists will be shipped from Hope by truck and rail.

During a question and answer period the payroll estimate was determined to be two to two and a quarter million dollars when full production is achieved. Full production will use about 220 employees working two nine hour shifts five days per week. Supervisory personnel moving to Hope will include eight to ten men and their families.

Lion Hubert Thash was present after quite a bout with illness and had his son Larry as a guest. Lion Royce Pendergrass brought Frank Coleman as his guest.

Breaks Conference Record

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Danny Brabham got even in a big way. William Oates surprised himself. Paul Geis was lonely. Dave Roberts was a disappointment again. And, Cleburne Price wanted a recount.

Baylor's Brabham, beaten a total of 3/4 inch in the long jump during the past two Southwest Conference track meets, erased the 15-year-old conference record Tuesday with a leap of 25-4.

Oates, a 6-7 University of Texas junior, joined Brabham in the record book. Oates, who admitted he came to the two-day meeting "expecting a second or third place at best," cleared 7-1 1/2, 2 1/4 inches above the record set last year by Ben Greathouse of Texas A&M.

Geis, of Rice, who had beaten the record of 14:08.5 in the three-mile run by more than 30 seconds, won the event in 14:24.5. Bob Ayres of SMU was second in 14:47.2.

"It's hard to run good when you're out there by yourself and know you're going to win anyway," said Geis, a freshman.

Roberts, who won the pole vault in the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships last year with a vault of 17-6 1/2, was upset by Bill Smalley. Both cleared 16-0, but Smalley won on fewer misses.

Roberts, who had a best this year of 17-5, failed to clear the qualifying height in the SWC meet as a freshman. He won the event last year with a sub-par vault of 16-0.

Price's Texas Longhorns clobbered the opposition, rolling up 141 points under the new system of 10 points for a first.

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Drivers who will start Saturday's $1 million Indianapolis 500-mile race got their final chance to map battle plans today during a three-hour session of "carburetion" runs.

The 2.5 mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway, where more than 250,000 will gather for the 56th eight for a second, six for a third, four for a fourth, two for a fifth and one for a sixth. Rice was second with 93 1/2 points.

Price said he had heard speculation that the Longhorns would benefit from the new system with a rash of sixths.

"The first thing I'm going to do is figure how we would have done on old system of 6-4-3-2-1," he said.

Under the previous scoring system, Texas' victory would have been just as impressive: 73-50.

Texas trailed Rice by two points after Monday events but there was little doubt about the outcome after Smalley upset Roberts and the Longhorns collected a total of 45 points in the mile run and 120-yard hurdles.

Ricky Yarbrough of Texas won the mile. Randy Yarbrough was third and Bill Gamble fourth. Gordon Hodges, Randy Lightfoot, Robert Priemeaux and Jim Jerndon gave the Longhorns a one-two-three-sixth finish in the hurdles.

Emmett Smallwood of Texas A&M set the long jump record of 25-1 in 1957 and better jumps since have been disallowed because the following wind was more than 4.5 miles per hour. Brabham almost fell victim to the same condition.

Indy 500 Drivers Map Battle Plans running of the richest motoring event in the world, opened at 10 a.m. for the first time since time trials ended Sunday.

The carburetion tests have been traditional at Indianapolis for years, but at least one car owner calls them "antiquated." "We haven't used carburetors on these cars in years," said Lindsey Hopkins, a wealthy Coca-Cola bottler from Atlanta and a veteran of many years at Indy.

"It seems we could come up with a more imaginative term for what we do in this final day of practice."

What the drivers actually do is practice, the same as they have done all month. For their final day on the oval, however, they use their race day chassis setup, the new engines they have installed or reworked, and, incidentally, they check fuel consumption and tire wear.

Thus, it would be unlikely that pole-sitter Bobby Unser would run his Olsonite Eagle at anything like top speed and certainly not at the 195.940 miles per hour he put together for four laps 10 days ago to win the No. 1 starting position.

A broken engine or a wrecked car this late in the game would be disaster.

Hopkins, meanwhile, lost one of his regular drivers when Wally Dallenbach was selected Tuesday to drive Andy Granatelli's STP-Lola. Along with Mel Kenyon and Roger McCluskey, Dallenbach had formed the Indy team that Hopkins co-sponsors with Gilmore Broadcasting Co.

But of Hopkins' three pilots, Dallenbach found himself first on the bump list during the final flurry of qualifying, and actually was ousted from the line up by ex-stock car driver Cale Yarborough.

Granatelli's Lola had been qualified in the middle of the fourth row by 45-year-old Art Pollard during the first round. He wrecked it two days later, however, and wound up in the hospital with a broken leg.

The car was repaired but was relegated to 33rd position when Pollard couldn't drive it. Dallenbach, who would have moved up from his first alternate status to fill the 33rd spot, had the Lola not shown, thus will make his sixth Indy start anyway.

Dallenbach probably will be the busiest driver at the Speedway today. Race officials directed that the Lola must run at least 100 miles before it is certified for competition.

Gun Bought To Defend Soledad

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A defense witness says a shotgun purchased by Angela Davis 40 hours before it was used in a 1970 courthouse invasion was bought to defend the San Francisco headquarters of the Soledad Brothers Defense Committee.

Ellen Broms, a Los Angeles social worker, testified Tuesday at Miss Davis' murder-kidnap-conspiracy trial that Miss Davis said she bought the gun to defend Soledad House and gave it to Jonathan Jackson—not knowing it would be smuggled into a courtroom Aug. 7 and used to kill a judge.

Miss Davis is accused of giving Jackson the shotgun, two carbines and a pistol and helping him plot an abortive courthouse escape that ended in the deaths of four persons—Jackson, Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley and two convicts.

In her opening statement, Miss Davis said she would show the guns were not bought for "any criminal intent or purpose."

Valerie Mitchell, Miss Davis' former roommate, testified Monday that Jackson apparently took the two carbines and pistol from a gun rack in her apartment where they were kept for target practice by members of the Che Lumumba Club, an organization of black Communists.

FHA Votes New Maximum, To Be Effective June 1

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has made it possible for home buyers to purchase more-expensive houses with smaller down payments.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board decided Tuesday to increase maximum amounts that federal savings-and-loan associations can lend on conventional mortgages in which a down payment is only 5 to 10 per cent.

For loans covering 90 per cent of the cost of the home, federal savings-and-loan associations may lend as much as $45,000, up from the present $36,000.

On 95-per-cent loans, home buyers may borrow $36,000 instead of the present $30,000. The new maximums are effective June 1.

Conventional loans, those neither guaranteed by the Veterans Administration nor insured by the Federal Housing Administration, are harder to obtain, and the interest rates are higher than on FHA and VA loans.

According to bank-board officials, the impact will be greatest in major metropolitan suburbs, and on young families in which the head of household is between 25 and 34 and is making over $10,000 a year.

Studies by the board showed that families in this category tend to use up their cash quickly, keeping average liquid assets of only $250.

"These are people who don't have a lot of savings, but who are upwardly mobile with a chance to increase their income in future years," a board official said.

These young families are less likely to default on loans also, the board's study indicated, because their careers are at stake and they would tend to try to keep a more-expensive house.

"Preliminary indications are that the larger the loan, the less the delinquency or default risk of a 90- or 95-per-cent loan," said board Chairman Preston Martin.

Calls For Soc. Sec. Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Senatorial candidate Ted Boswell called Tuesday for a 20 per cent across-the-board increase in Social Security payments with a minimum payment of at least $100 a month.

The Bryant lawyer also called for an increase in the income limitation for Social Security recipients.

Boswell, one of three candidates opposing Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., in the May 30 Democratic primary, called for the improvements in a prepared statement entitled the eighth in a series of "bold new directions" he is proposing during his campaign.

He noted that the minimum monthly Social Security payments are only slightly more than $60 a month, "an amount which is absolutely inadequate for a minimum standard of life and living."

He said the present earned income limitation of $1,600 must be changed. "Those older people who are still able-bodied ought to be able to supplement their income up to $3,000 or $4,000 a year," Boswell said.

Another major problem confronting the over-50 Americans who are unemployed or marginally employed, Boswell said, is that they are prohibited from making new beginnings in new fields because of their age and they need protective legislation.

"Health care, financial assistance, job opportunity, Social Security reform, welfare reform, guidelines for nursing homes would all be objects of legislation I will sponsor and support as a United States senator," Boswell said.

He reiterated his support of a national health care plan. "Medicare and Medicaid did not go far enough," he said. "Our older citizens can't make financial ends meet when they are ill, much less when they are ill."

Russians Recognize World Crisis

Moscow has informed the Russians and the world that the Soviet leaders' talks with President Nixon are "taking place in a complicated international situation."

It is so complicated that the Kremlin seemed immensely anxious to get a message across to those who were jittery about the meeting, including the North Vietnamese.

The nervous ones have been given to understand that the summit is part of the continuing over-all world struggle and that the Kremlin will cease abandon long-range goals of the international revolutionary movement.

The message comes through a curtain of doubletalk surrounding a sudden full meeting of the Soviet party's central committee last Friday. General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev told the members what policy for the summit would be.

The upshot was a committee decree on foreign policy, voicing unanimous support for the Brezhnev course. It went on to say that the committee instructed its Politburo to "put into action the program of peace worked out by the 24th Congress, and in accordance with the concrete situation to use various forms and methods" to achieve policy aims.

The decree said the Politburo was charged to integrate decisions on current tasks of policy with "long-term perspectives and aims of the struggle for peace, freedom and independence of peoples and for social progress and socialism."

For all these decades the Communist "struggle for peace, freedom" has meant the struggle for revolution around the world. The phrase "freedom and independence of peoples" has meant what has become known as the "national liberation movement."

The 24th Congress was held 13 months ago. It seems odd that it took from then until now for a decree instructing the Politburo to carry out its decisions. And having all the power anyway, the Politburo hardly needs a central committee decree, any more than it needed the window dressing of the party congress.

Thus it seems that the committee was summoned primarily for sounding-board purposes, to reassure not only allies like North Vietnam and clients like the Arab states, but also to calm grumblers in the Soviet leadership.

On Sunday, while Nixon was on his way to Moscow, both Pravda and Izvestia devoted long front-page editorials to the foreign policy decree. Each repeated, word for word, the paragraph about use of "various methods" for coordinating immediate aims with "long-term perspectives."

COW GOES TO SCHOOL

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Both cow and students were hesitant when Jeff Mowers, 17, brought his Golden Bell to school for a get-acquainted session. But curiosity got the better of them and they drew closer.

Mowers said his cow won "First Udder" a few years ago during a 4-H exhibit.

Bremer to Face Court Today

BALTIMORE (AP) — Arthur H. Bremer is to appear in U.S. District Court today for arraignment on charges stemming from the May 15 shooting of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and three other persons.

The 21-year-old Milwaukee man was named Tuesday in indictments returned by a federal grand jury in Baltimore and a state grand jury in Prince Georges County, where the shootings occurred.

He was charged in the federal indictment with shooting a candidate for public office, illegally bringing a .38-caliber revolver from Wisconsin to Maryland, using the weapon to commit a felony and assaulting a federal officer—a Secret Service agent assigned to protect Wallace as he campaigned for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Three of the four federal charges carry maximum sentences of 10 years in prison and $10,000 fines. The fourth—using the weapon in a felony—could bring a sentence of from one to 10 years.

The state indictments accuse Bremer of two common law crimes, attempted murder and assault and battery; two felonies, assault with intent to murder and assault with intent to maim; and two gun law violations.

There was no indication when he would be arraigned on the state charges.

Arthur Marshall, the state's

Wednesday, May 24, 1972

attorney for Prince Georges County, said the common law crimes carry no fixed penalty and could result in a death sentence, but he said capital punishment has never been imposed in a case where a victim survived.

"What we're talking about is a practical maximum sentence of 30 years or so on each of the four indictments," Marshall said.

Hearing Postponed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The extradition hearing originally set for Tuesday for William A. Bremer, brother of the man charged in the shooting of Alabama Gov. George Wallace, was postponed until June 16.

The hearing is to determine whether Bremer, 32, will be extradited to face mail fraud charges in Florida.

The delay came because Bremer's attorney, Willard Smith of Fort Smith had a federal court appointment conflicting with the extradition hearing.

Bremer, whose brother Arthur, 21, was charged in the Wallace shooting, was arrested at Fort Smith March 24.

PEOPLE ARE CONCERNED

As I've walked the roads and streets of the Fourth District, I've found people are concerned about problems of health care... about unfair taxes and governmental inefficiency and about inflation and consumer protection. As the only candidate who has held a state elective office, I am therefore the only one who can be judged on his record. As your Attorney General I've taken steps to help bring medical care to rural areas, to improve governmental efficiency and to work for better consumer protection. My record of service shows I can get things done for the people I need and ask for your vote and support

Calls For Soc. Sec. Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Senatorial candidate Ted Boswell called Tuesday for a 20 per cent across-the-board increases in Social Security payments with a minimum payment of at least $100 a month.

The Bryant lawyer also called for an increase in the income limitation for Social Security recipients.

Boswell, one of three candidates opposing Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., in the May 30 Democratic primary, called for the improvements in a prepared statement entitled the eighth in a series of "bold new directions" he is proposing during his campaign.

He noted that the minimum monthly Social Security payments are only slightly more than $60 a month, "an amount which is absolutely inadequate for a minimum standard of life and living."

He said the present earned income limitation of $1,600 must be changed. "Those older people who are still able-bodied ought to be able to supplement their income up to $3,000 or $4,000 a year," Boswell said.

Another major problem confronting the over-50 Americans who are unemployed or marginally employed, Boswell said, is that they are prohibited from making new beginnings in new fields because of their age and they need protective legislation.

"Health care, financial assistance, job opportunity, Social Security reform, welfare reform, guidelines for nursing homes would all be objects of legislation I will sponsor and support as a United States senator," Boswell said.

He reiterated his support of a national health care plan. "Medicare and Medicaid did not go far enough," he said. "Our older citizens can't make financial ends meet when they are ill, much less when they are ill."

Air Hijacker Is Slain in Ecuador

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — A group of soldiers slipped through the baggage compartment of a hijacked Ecuadorian airliner Tuesday and machine-gunned the hijacker to death. It was the second time this month air piracy has been thwarted with gunfire.

The hijacker, an Ecuadorian named Lomas, took over the Electra turboprop shortly after it left Quito for Guayaquil.

He forced the plane to return to Quito where he threatened to blow up the aircraft unless he got $40,000 ransom and a parachute. But he let the passengers get off.

Troops surrounded the plane. Nearly six hours later, some of the soldiers entered through the luggage compartment and killed Lomas with a burst of fire from their machine guns. The pilot, Fernando Valdivieso, was reported slightly injured.

The shooting of the Ecuadorian hijacker resembled the ending two weeks ago of the hijacking of a Belgian jetliner by four Arab guerrillas who held 97 persons hostage aboard the plane at Tel Aviv Airport. Israeli paratroopers got into the plane, killed two of the hijackers and wounded a woman guerrilla and two passengers. One of the passengers, a 22-year-old woman, died.

Unannounced Secret Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican presidential candidate John M. Ashbrook says the Soviet Union will receive an unchallengeable lead in nuclear weapons under a yet-unannounced agreement tentatively reached at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks.

The Ohio conservative congressman, who is opposing President Nixon in the California primary, urged Nixon to repudiate the agreement during his current meeting in Moscow with Soviet leaders.

Ashbrook told a news conference Tuesday "highly placed people" had told him of the tentative agreement, which has not been made public.

Thornton Running on Performance Record

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
SHERIDAN, Ark. (AP) — State Atty. Gen. Ray Thornton is waging a campaign for Congress in the 4th District of South Arkansas on the record he has built as the state's chief legal officer.

Thornton, 43, serving his first term as attorney general, said the principal issue in the race among himself and three others in the Democratic primary was "the question of who has a record of performance to demonstrate that he can get things done for the people who live in the 4th Congressional District."

He pointedly observes that he is the only one of four candi-

Americans In French Tournament

PARIS (AP) — Three American girls play their second round singles matches today in attempts to qualify for the final stage of the French Open Tennis Tournament.

As an experiment, the organizers of the French championships automatically qualified 48 men and 24 women for the third round, leaving 64 men to fight it out for 16 places and 32 women to contest eight places in the final brackets.

Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., already has won his place in the third round, but all other American men lost their first round matches. Six United States players, led by Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C., automatically qualified for the third round.

Mona Schallau of Iowa City, Iowa, Pam Teeguarden of Los Angeles and Nancy Ornstein of Washington, D.C., play their second round matches today.

Gottfried won his second round match Tuesday, defeating Jean Paul-Meyer of France 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

dates who is a public office holder. The other candidates are Richard Arnold, a Texarkana lawyer, Richard Mays, an El Dorado lawyer, and Jack G. Coleman of McGehee. Arnold and Thornton are considered the chief contenders.

There is no Republican candidate for the position, which is being vacated by Rep. David Pryor, who is running for the U.S. Senate.

"The people want to elect someone who has a background and experience which will enable him to know and understand their needs, their hopes, and who further understands that his duties are not only to vote, but also to represent the people in Washington—to cut through the red tape and bureaucracy that obstructs action," Thornton said.

He offers his own background, which has included his experience in private law practice, his service as a delegate to the state Constitutional Convention of 1970 and his work as attorney general.

Thornton considers that a consumer protection code that he proposed and the 1971 legislature enacted is among the major achievements of his tenure in office.

He also said he had "reflected an attitude toward efficiency" by requiring all members of the attorney general staff to practice fulltime for the state, thereby making possible the assumption by the office of the legal work of 32 state agencies that had relied on outside counsel.

Senate Panel Sets Aug. 31 for War End

By HARRISON B. HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has voted to require a total withdrawal of all United States military forces from South Vietnam by Aug. 31.

The fund cutoff for U.S. combat and support forces in South Vietnam was recommended to the Senate by a 7-2 committee vote. It would become part of a $1.7 billion foreign-aid authorization bill. President Nixon had recommended a $2.24 billion foreign aid bill for the 12 months beginning July 1.

The withdrawal deadline was presented to the committee in an amendment by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana. It calls for an end to all land, sea and air involvement by U.S. military forces in Indochina upon agreement between the United States and North Vietnam on a ceasefire, release of American prisoners of war and an accounting of Americans missing in action.

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said addition of the Mansfield amendment to the foreign aid bill could help clear the way for action on a pending State Department authorization bill. Mansfield has introduced a similar amendment to the State Department bill but is not expected to press that issue now.

The committee also added two other administration-opposed amendments to the foreign aid bill.

One amendment would cut off funds for the implementation of "executive agreements" reached last December with Portugal and Bahrain until those agreements have been submitted to the Senate for ratification as treaties. The agreements are for U.S. naval bases.

The other amendment would require that all future arrangements for military bases or the storage of nuclear weapons on foreign soil be presented for ratification as treaties.

Both were introduced by Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.

State and City Aid Bill Tabled

WASHINGTON (AP) — House consideration of a $5.3 billion state and city aid bill has been postponed for at least two weeks while proponents seek votes by compromise and persuasion.

The compromise being worked on would substantially reshape the measure, eliminating the automatic appropriations reaching nearly $30 billion in five years, and requiring year-by-year consideration of appropriation bills. But it would make available whatever funds Congress voted long enough in advance to permit budgeting by local governments.

Handlers of the bill made known the strategic retreat Tuesday, after the House Rules Committee by the slimmest possible margin—8 to 7—cleared the bill for House action under the procedures sought by the sponsors, the Democratic leadership and the White House.

No Point to Peace Talks, Say Allies

PARIS (AP) — The United States and South Vietnam said today they saw no useful purpose in resuming the Vietnam peace talks Thursday as demanded by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

"Everything seems to indicate that what you are seeking is still a military victory in the field and not a negotiated solution at the conference table," the allies said in a joint statement to the two Communist delegations.

The statement said the Communists, in calling for resumption of the conference, did not give "the slightest indication" of what they would be willing to discuss.

The United States and South Vietnam who broke off the conference May 4 said they would resume as soon as the Communists clearly showed an intention "to negotiate seriously on matters of substance."

Governor Dale Bumpers has consistently expressed deep concern for the lack of decent health care to the rural and poor areas of Arkansas. Many people have to drive long distances to a hospital, and have no primary health care at all. So Governor Bumpers has provided the leadership to set up a full Family Practice Department at the University of Arkansas Medical Center and offer full scholarships to all medical students who will agree to practice in a rural community upon graduation. This is only a partial solution. Arkansas has fewer doctors per capita than any state in the nation. Our medical center facilities and staff must be expanded to produce many more doctors than we are presently graduating. A proposal to accomplish this will be presented to the next legislative session.

'Big' Is News In Fall Fashions

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Big sleeves, big coats, big shoes—some fall fashions have ballooned in size.

"I concentrated on big sleeves," said designer Issey Miyake, following his fall show for Paris Collections Monday.

His clothes are a great blend of familiar and strange looks. He showed big-sleeved lamb wool jackets—very short—over thigh-high wrapped platform boots and pants in an unusual cotton, woven to look quilted.

"It took me a year to develop the fabric," said Miyake, who used it for reversible jackets, in bright blocks of color, as well as peddle pushers and even shorts.

His sleeves got even bigger and rounder for evening—in snow and rain print blouses and pants.

Miyake likes man-made suede combinations, sometimes in monotones, ending in peculiar shoes and boots which he designs. They are large platform styles, some with turned up toes and ankle lacing.

The thick soles are made of cork so they're very light, says Miyake. However, it's not easy to develop an undulating walk in them. A clip-clop step is more like it.

His midi pants showed off the shoes to their best or worst advantage—depending on how you feel about them. And you're bound to feel strongly one way or the other. Actually, they grow on you.

For his generous, blousy evening dresses, he used a mathematical print, designed by Ma-kiko Minakawa—instead of the popular plaids.

"Everyone was going checked and striped. Pop prints were finished. What could we do?" said Miyake, who previously worked for Givency in Paris, then Geoffrey Beene in New York, and finally went to Tokyo to do his own designs in 1970.

The collection is priced $40 for blouses, up to $300.

Designer Scott Barrie has his own version of the larger, easier coat.

He does an extended shoulder. It looks like the coat is too big for the model, but it holds the attention because you keep trying to figure out what is going on. It's very casual-looking.

Scott keeps the loose look with his short dolman sleeved sweaters, and dresses with tucked shoulders and flaring skirts.

Pep Pill Question May Soon Be Settled

By JOHN STOWELL

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Beneath the streets of Washington a whirling computer is scanning 70,000 punch cards in search of an answer that will profoundly affect the multimillion-dollar anti-fat business and its varied clientele.

The $40,000 pilot project is designed to settle once and for all whether pep pills, or amphetamines, and other anti-obesity drugs are safe and effective for weight reduction, in light of their widespread abuse.

The computer's work is scheduled to be completed by June 1, with the government's final decision due a month later.

"It will provide the most important facts," said an attorney at the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, which must set amphetamine-production quotas for next year.

The 1972 quotas, the first since amphetamines were brought under the Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act, slashed legal production 82 per cent below last year's total of 102 tons of amphetamines and 24 tons of the more powerful methamphetamines.

An estimated 20 to 50 per cent of 1971 production was diverted to the youthful drug subculture, truck drivers and students trying to stay awake and athletes striving for superior performance.

The drugs suppress appetite and stimulate the central nervous system.

Dr. Barrett Scoville, deputy director of the Food and Drug Administration's Division of Neuropharmacological Drug Products, said the computer was chosen as the only feasible way of "setting policy in a broad fashion implicitly rather than one drug at a time."

After the FDA told pharmaceutical firms in August 1970 that amphetamines were to be regarded as new drugs, the agency was flooded with 110 voluminous applications for weight-reducing compounds.

Last November it selected 210 different studies involving 1,200 patients and put the information on computer cards.

"The only thing we've got back so far is a display of the weight loss of each patient, one by one, by age and height and starting weight," Scoville said. "We need a much more sophisticated integration of this data."

The computer still is searching the cards for information on weight loss attributed to drugs, how close it was to target, how long the pounds stayed on and the number of dropouts.

Scoville said a ballpark guess is that amphetamines can shed between one-half and a full pound weekly, hardly dramatic considering that the FDA allows use of the drug only as a "short-term adjunct" for not more than two or three weeks.

After the computer has finished its work, Scoville said, the FDA will weave in information on amphetamines' potential for abuse, taking into account the possible misuse of other stimulant drugs if they are outlawed.

Wednesday, May 24, 1972

A Victim Writes of '40s Witch Hunt

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—After many plays and movie scripts Arthur Laurents has written his first novel. It was bought for a movie and he wound up writing the script.

The book is "The Way We Were," and Barbra Streisand has already been cast in the leading role. Sydney Pollock will direct and Robert Redford may be Streisand's leading man.

It's the story of a girl in college in the '30s. She's the campus radical, a member of the Young Communist League, and she falls for a very straight, WASPish, handsome, football hero-type. To her amazement they get married. Then they go to Hollywood where he writes and, ultimately, they get caught up in the witch hunt and blacklist of the '40s.

"This is a vindication for me," Laurents says. "I was blacklisted myself and I had to go to Europe to work."

Laurents says that a form of blacklist still exists here. He wanted Jane Fonda to play the girl in his story but the producer said, "no." The reason: Fonda is no good at the box office because of her politics. So they got Streisand, who is politically pure, even though she really doesn't fit the part.

Laurents hasn't been back here, except for some brief visits, since he was forced to leave in '52. And he says that Hollywood is much duller now than it was then.

"No matter what their politics were and no matter that some of them really weren't very talented," he says, "the writers and directors who worked here then were stimulating people. They haven't been replaced."

"And the studios are gone. For that I'm sorry. They took the star system with them. And, without stars, Hollywood just isn't very exciting any more."

Around Town

A few last words on the Oscars—the big disgrace this year was the fact that the winning song "Shatt"—wasn't even a song, just a driving rhythm with a few shouted words. It will live on for about 37 seconds.

I'm told, by one of the members of the Academy's music branch, that they held an emergency meeting about "Shatt" and concluded that they had to nominate it even though it wasn't a song. They were afraid of black protests if they didn't.

Ruth Carter, the wife of producer Richard Carter of "Kotch," showed up in a long black gown. There was a slit up the side and she said it had hot pants underneath—but she was so excited she forgot to put on the hot pants.

I asked Topol if he'd brought a lucky charm with him. He said, "Yes—I brought my wife." It didn't work.

Everybody in town showed up for the opening of the new ABC Theater in Century City and the premiere of "Cabaret." The picture is excellent and the theater is beautiful but uncomfortable. There isn't enough legroom for Mickey Rooney on a short day.

Ross Hunter hosted a party at which Burt Bacharach sang his score for "Lost Horizon," and it's a winner. I told Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme that I predicted they'll be singing the love duet—"I Might Frighten Her Away"—at the Oscar ceremony two years from now when it will be eligible.

Hunter said he was keeping the name of the actor who will play the high lama a secret for a while. Steve Lawrence told me he knows who it will be: Henry Youngman. But George Kennedy gave me the straight story: it will be Charles Boyer.

Use of Bank Credit Cards Shows Steady Increase

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The use and number of bank credit cards as well as "instant-money" plans at national banks have grown phenomenally in the past four years, a government report showed today.

American consumers owed about $4.1 billion to national banks under both kinds of credit plans as 1971 closed, an increase from $3.5 billion a year earlier.

"It's a good steady increase," said one official in the office of William Camp, comptroller of the currency. The report documents how the nation is moving toward the cashless society that many bankers envision.

At the end of 1967, consumers owed only $985 million under national-bank-credit-card and revolving-credit plans. The number of national banks which issued credit cards at that time was 187.

Now, 740 national banks under the comptroller's jurisdiction issue credit cards and 701 offer "instant-money."

The "instant-money" plans operate in various ways, but a common plan is the deposit of additional funds in a member's account if he should overdraw, provided he is willing to pay interest.

The figures do not include state-chartered banks.

An upsurge in the number of persons using such credit, rather than an increase in the amount they borrow, appears to have caused last year's overall increase.

There were 13.8 million credit cards with outstanding balances at the end of 1971, but national banks had issued about 15 million credit cards. BankAmericard and Master Charge are two of the most widely used of the bank-charge-card systems.

The $3.2 billion owed through credit cards, compared with $2.7 billion in 1970, came out to an average balance of $235 a card.

Under "instant-money" revolving credit plans, there were 1.5 million accounts with outstanding balances at the close of 1971. Customers owed $817,538,000 or an average of $539 per account.

In 1970, these credit plans produced $798 million in outstanding credit at yearend. In 1967, the figure was $349 million.

The report showed that the number of national banks offering credit cards may have reached a saturation point. Six months ago, there were 745 banks issuing such cards, but five had dropped out by the end of the year.

Tomato "Rose" Garnishes Fresh Vegetable Salad

Like to vary the way fresh vegetables are served at your house? Try them cooked and chilled for a change. A Fresh Green Bean and Vegetable Salad is full of zip and vitamins — a great way to enjoy these vegetables in a tidy, quick dish. The secret is to cook the potatoes and green beans ahead, blend them with crisp raw vegetables such as celery and fresh onion, and mayonnaise. To fashion the colorful tomato "rose" that garnishes the salad see directions that follow.

Fresh Green Bean and Vegetable Salad
2 cups cooked fresh green beans
2 cups sliced cold cooked potatoes
2 cups chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped fresh onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup mayonnaise
Fresh tomato wedges
Lettuce

Combine all ingredients except lettuce and tomato in food mixer. Mix lightly. Serve on lettuce. Garnish with tomato roses. To make a tomato rose as shown in photograph, cut peel from tomato lengthwise and carefully in a single strip, not too deep in spine to make a rose. Fasten with wooden skewer and refrigerate for a few hours until tomato rose holds this shape without help.

Good Education Doesn't Necessarily Mean Good Job

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — "Go to college son, get a good education and you'll always have a good job." That counsel has been given to millions of young Americans.

The assumption is made that a good education equals a good white-collar job and security, while a poor education means much less pay in a blue-collar job and a much greater likelihood of unemployment.

Shrewd observers of employment trends now realize that while this is often so, it isn't necessarily so. Blue-collar workers are capable of making "big" money, while some professionals are without jobs.

Moreover, as mobile Americans seek to scramble up the ladder via education, the competition for professional and technical jobs might grow stiffer, perhaps even leaving less competition for more menial jobs.

In the three years from February 1969 to February 1972, according to the Labor Department regional office here, unemployment among professional and technical workers rose far more rapidly than among all workers.

It isn't that the opportunities aren't opening up, it says. The real explanation is that each year there are many more people trained for these jobs, making it possible for employers to be choosy.

The Labor Department cites figures which indicate that during the 1970s some 10.5 million persons will be seeking jobs typically held by college grads. However, the growth of job opportunities for them will total only 10.4 million.

This close balance between supply and demand, it is expected, will probably produce a job market heavily in the favor of employers.

Suppose the applicant is successful. What then is likely to be the determining factor in continued upward mobility or advancement? According to a University of Michigan professor, it could be a stable marriage.

John E. Tropman, social work professor, measured the advancement of 6,000 males between the ages 45 and 54. The men who progressed the furthest, he found, were those who had remained married to their first wives.

The second most successful group was those who had remarried. And far behind, he says, were the men who had been divorced, separated or who had become widowers.

Use of the name Lucifer as a name for the devil comes from the Bible: "How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning!" Interpretation is that the verse referred to the archangel hurled from heaven for his wickedness.

Kiwanis Speaker

CAPT. THOMAS E. JACKSON, USN

Capt. Thomas E. Jackson, USN, Ret., and a member of the local Kiwanis Club was the guest speaker at Tuesday's meeting of the club.

During his naval career Capt. Jackson served tours of duty in China and Taiwan. It was the people of these countries about whom he spoke, giving something of their history, their customs, and their culture.

China is a nation of something over 800 million people in a land area of approximately 3.6 million square miles. There are 21 Provinces stretching from the Arctic to the Tropics. Though the written word or language is the same throughout China, the spoken language is different in different areas, making it impossible to communicate with all one's countrymen by the spoken word. "80 per cent of the people are engaged in farming, and they are excellent farmers," said the speaker. "Their production per acre is fantastic."

Capt. Jackson said there were three things with which he was quite impressed on his first visit to China in 1947: A. The Smell; B. The Poverty; and C. The People. Today the Chinese civilization is just about where it was 3,000 years ago.

A number of religions are represented in China, including Christianity. Confucianism, often thought of as a religion, is not actually considered a religion, but much of the ethics and culture is based on the sayings of Confucius.

Capt. Jackson stated that, in his opinion, if there ever was a

$87,000 Check for Pope County

ATKINS, Ark. (AP) — State Sen. Carl Sorrels of Atkins said he had been advised Tuesday by the Legislative Joint Auditing Committee that a $87,245 check was on the way to Pope County officials to cover part of an alleged shortage in the county treasurer's office.

The check is from Western Surety Bonding Co. Atkins said Millers Mutual, another bonding company, was completing an investigation into any liability it may have in connection with the alleged shortage.

Jackson Ross, former county treasurer, has been charged with embezzlement in connection with the alleged shortage of about $290,000. Ross has pleaded innocent.

Sorrels said school officials needed $160,000 to cover obligations to the Pope County school teachers for the school term now ending.

OFF LIMITS DUMP

DENTON, Md. (AP) — A young man's bid to root in the Denton dump for the makings of art objects has been rejected.

Leo Sewell, 26, a parttime carpenter, showed a pop art wastebasket which he built from junk and said he was selling for $20. "This is my livelihood," he said.

But the county commissioners ruled that all scavengers are banned from the dump and that Sewell would have to do his trashhunting elsewhere.

Catholics Call for End Of Violence

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A mass meeting in the Roman Catholic Creggan district of Londonderry voted overwhelmingly Tuesday night for an end to the violence of the Irish Republican army, howled down IRA hecklers and refused to let an IRA chieftain speak.

The crowd of 2,000 cheered a priest who declared: "We love our brother Protestants in Derry, and we want to live in peace with them."

The IRA rules some 35,000 persons in the Creggan and Bogside districts of Londonderry, an area called "Free Derry" because the British army and the Protestant police stay out of it.

On Monday, 200 Catholic women demanded an end to IRA violence after a 19-year-old soldier home on leave was executed by guerrillas who charged he was a spy. The women claimed he was innocent, and their protest mushroomed into Tuesday night's meeting.

The crowd appeared to feel that direct rule of Northern Ireland by the British government should be given a chance of bringing an end to discrimination against the province's Catholic minority in employment opportunities, housing and political representation.

There was wild applause at a motion which "utterly rejected and condemned all use of force at the present time." The Rev. Martin Rooney declared: "We must abhor the violence and the beginning of civil war that we have seen around us."

John White, head of the Free Derry command of the Official wing of the IRA, tried to speak but was told to leave. He emerged from the school looking pale and shaken and accused the Catholic Church of trying to divide the population by playing on emotions. He said the leaders of the meeting were not representative of the people.

The Officials, who admitted murdering the young soldier, agreed Tuesday that they would shoot only when fired on. But the IRA's Provisional faction, which has waged most of the guerrilla warfare, said it would continue to fight "British occupation."

Warm Weather Dominates Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Calm, warm weather more typical of summer than spring dominated most of the nation today in the wake of a series of violent thunderstorms that whipped through sections of the Plains late Tuesday.

Power lines were knocked down in many parts of Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minn., leaving about 50,000 homes without electricity. Winds clocked at 45 miles per hour destroyed one hangar and damaged two others at an airport in a Minneapolis suburb.

Other locally heavy thunderstorms were scattered over the eastern Plains and the Mississippi Valley.

Rain elsewhere was limited to showers in the Northwest and occasional sprinkles in the coastal areas of the Southeast.

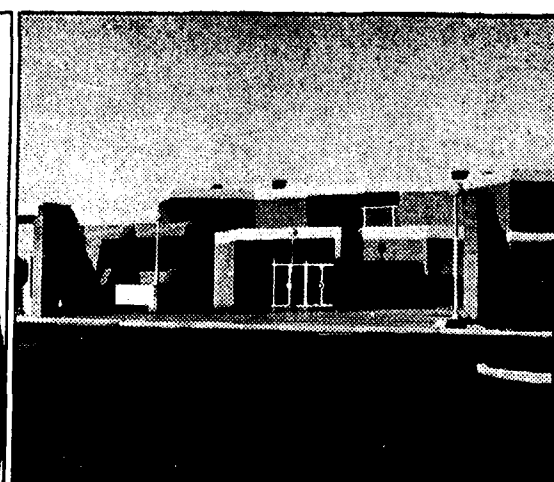

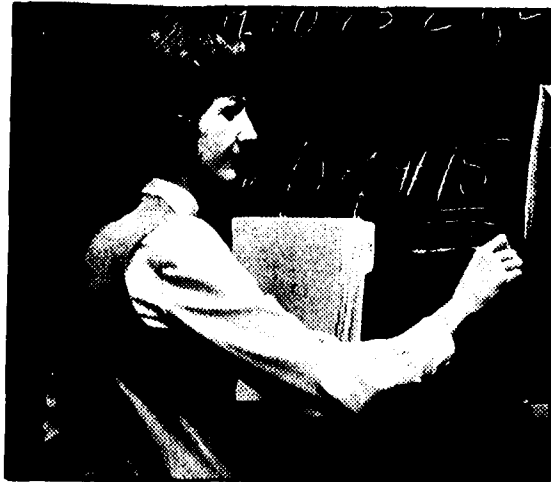

Except in the Northwest, which remained cool, temperatures were well above seasonal normals over most of the country. Daytime readings in the 80s and 90s were common from the Southwest and the Gulf Coast to the Canadian border.

A repeat performance was expected today. Severe drought continued in the Southwest with no letup in sight.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 36 at Redmond, Ore., to 83 at Blythe, Calif.

Attack on N. Vietnam Widened

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon today signaled a widening of bombing targets in North Vietnam, saying that U.S. planes will hit industrial plants supporting the enemy's war effort.

Until now, the revived U.S. bombing of North Vietnam, ordered by President Nixon after North Vietnam opened its spring offensive against South Vietnam, has concentrated on petroleum storage depots and transportation facilities, including bridges, railroads and truck parks.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said this kind of attacks will continue on a major scale and that U.S. bombers "will be hitting some of the other targets such as power plants and some of the industrial facilities which support the military effort of the North."

Over the weekend, U.S. bombers struck an electric power transformer station eight miles northwest of Hanoi.

Friedheim's words indicated that this was the beginning of a new phase in the bombing which will aim at some of North Vietnam's basic economic resources, as well as more directly military type targets.

During the 1965-1968 phase of the air war, U.S. bombers virtually knocked out about a dozen thermal power plants. Most have been rebuilt and some have been protected with blast walls to minimize damage from bombing.

Friedheim declined to go into any kind of detail on what kinds of plants will now be subject to U.S. bombing.

PERSONAL FINANCE

A striking change is taking place in the living style of millions of American homeowners. Nothing short of a reversal of traditional values accounts, apparently, for the phenomenon that's mushroomed in the past 10 years or so—in the mobile home park.

The economy of low-budget housing isn't the main appeal, students of the phenomenon agree. It's the way of life that people acquire along with their mobile home which accounts for nearly two million households now packed into row upon row and acre on acre of "12-wides," "14-wides" and "double-wides."

The split-level in suburbia, in its spacious setting of greenery and privacy? To most mobile home dwellers, it's Nowheresville. In increasing numbers a projected 3.4 million households by 1976—the mobileers are saying "you can have it."

A study of the mobile home industry, focused primarily on its economics and the investment potential, concludes that what's selling its products at the rate of a half million a year is not low-cost living, but the style of living, which is "the one enduring attraction of the mobile home. Every serious student and virtually every individual observer has commented on this."

"It is a mixture of informality, gregariousness, visiting back and forth, planned and unplanned shared activity." (The bowling leagues are a planned activity, sharing the laundry rooms is an unplanned social nexus.)

Prepared for First National City Bank of New York, by Shiefman, Werba & Associates, Detroit, the study draws a cost comparison which shows that the typical mobilehome has monthly out-of-pocket housing costs $31.50 greater than the rental cost of a comparable "mini-mum" $150-a-month apartment. He's willing to pay that premium, the study guesses, for his way of life.

And he gladly tortures what the suburbanite regards as the good things of life. "The mobile home life style, then, is a willing exchange of individual amenities in housing for group enjoyments. It is fostered by the very shortcomings of mobile home life—the cramped quarters, the density on the land, the lack of privacy—all of which throw people together and by the man's shared facilities and the homogeneity of the population."

All this, it's noted, is a direct reversal of the values that are stressed in our conventional life style.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
ROME (AP) — "There are," said Sophia Loren, "more effective ways for an actress to be sexy than simply by taking off her clothes."

The Naples-born film star was discussing such matters as sexuality and women's rights at the 17th century chateau she and husband Carlo Ponti call home. It resembles a junior Versailles, except that it has more modern decorations, such as paintings by Picasso, Renoir, Kandinsky and a wagonful of Henry Moore sculptures.

Miss Loren was enjoying a rest from her rigors on "Man of La Mancha," her first art musical—she has sung briefly in other films. She plays the earthy, misused Aldonza, with peasant garb and frowzy hair. One of the scenes called for her to be raped by a gang of muleteers.

Always an advocate of realism, she emerged from the scene battered and bruised. Also fully clothed.

"If the dramatic impact is there, nudity isn't necessary," she insisted. "You can show everything that needs to be shown by focussing on the face and the dramatic action." Sophia, now 37, once did a strip during her hungry days as an extra. No more. "Directors don't even ask me, because they know I wouldn't do it," she said.

No prude is she. "I have seen 'The Decameron,' and I loved it," she added. "It was daring and earthy, a nice way of approaching sex. Then other directors tried to make copies, and they were very bad. They make me laugh."

"I have also seen American pictures like 'Carnal Knowledge.' They may create sensation, but they will never be as popular as 'Love Story' or 'Dr. Zhivago' or 'Gone with the Wind.'"

"Producers make the mistake of thinking that daring scenes will sell a picture. They don't."

As for the Women's Lib movement, Sophia is sympathetic, with reservations.

"Every woman should have the choice of doing what she wants to do with her life," said the actress. "If she is intelligent and wants the kind of executive job that men have, she should have the opportunity."

"But if a woman wants to be only a wife, that is all right. I think all women should not forget their feminine qualities at home. I like to be a wife to Carlo at home, to take care of him."

"After all, what would a man be without a woman? And what would a woman be without a man?"

Women's Rights Groups Propose Substitute

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — When in doubt, use "Ms."

That's the philosophy of an increasing number of government workers when they need to refer to women in correspondence and other official documents.

A survey of more than a dozen government departments and agencies indicated no official policy exists on the use, or nonuse, of the title which some women's rights organizations have proposed as a substitute for the titles "Miss" and "Mrs."

Most of those interviewed expressed the view of Pentagon spokesman John Becker, who said, "We have no objection to 'Ms.' But in routine correspondence, we use 'Miss' or 'Mrs.'" according to our policy book. However, if a woman signs herself 'Ms.' in a letter, we address her that way in the reply."

Those government workers who do use "Ms." regularly say it simplifies record keeping, saves time and avoids embarrassing mistakes.

"For one thing, it's efficient when you make lists," said Rosslyn Kleeman at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. "It saves so much time, and the time saves money. We use it in our office automatically."

Ms. Kleeman, acting director of HEW's Woman's Action Program, personally prefers the new title. She said it eliminates the possibility of discrimination against married women.

"We don't ask men if they're married or plan to raise families," she said. "So why should we ask women?"

Several personnel directors said it is often necessary for insurance purposes to know if an employee is married and has dependents, but that for divorced women the title can be misleading.

At the White House, there appears to be some debate about whether "Ms." is appropriate.

Barbara Franklin, who's in charge of recruiting women for top government positions, said she uses it. Roland Elliott, who handles the President's correspondence, said he uses it if a woman signs herself that way.

But a member of the first lady's staff, Gwen King, said, "We certainly don't do it in Mrs. Nixon's correspondence."

We have ways of finding out whether a woman is married or not."

Mrs. King said she asked Mrs. Nixon who told her "to continue as we have been going. We'll keep in the same groove."

Mrs. King noted that not every woman wants to be addressed as "Ms."

For example, a Connecticut woman addressed a letter to HEW's "Miss" Kleeman who is actually a "Mrs." to complain that she must be illiterate.

The woman said that in a letter she received from HEW, Ms. Kleeman had misspelled "Miss" in two places.

Salads Spark Spring Tastes

The wonderful season of Spring is here. The early morning chirping of birds, the breaking up of ice floes on lakes and rivers, the swelling of magnolia blossoms preparing to pop into magnificent beauty all attest to the coming alive of nature. Our taste buds react to seasons also, and in the Spring there is a natural inclination to turn to salads.

The appeal of salads is in their variety of ingredients and dressings. There are endless flavor and "fixin's" ideas to awaken the most jaded palate. As an example, Spring Entree Salad is a delightful chef's salad recipe which offers a host of variations, each of which presents a completely different and individual flavor treat. You'll recognize the good nutrition elemental in these ingredients as an extra reward for serving this salad.

Here is another teacher's hand for advanced pupils. Sallie Johnson of Westport, Conn., who uses it, has won around a dozen women's national titles.

Sallie suggests that South gamble on seven, but does not criticize a bid of just six spades. The play at either contract should be made the same.

South must duck the heart lead for two reasons. The first reason is that West just might hold nine hearts. The second is that there is no hurry about taking the discard on the ace of hearts. The nine of spades is a sure entry to dummy and South wants to find out something more about the hand before committing himself.

Therefore, South ruffs the first trick and plays his ace of trumps. Both opponents follow nicely and South can now explore in the minor suits.

South starts with diamonds. He plays his ace and is rewarded by seeing the queen or jack drop from the West hand. He continues with the diamond king and when the other high diamond drops, South enters dummy by means of a low spade to the nine, discards his jack of clubs on the heart ace and claims all the tricks.

South could also make the hand by discarding the jack of clubs at trick one, but the normal discard would be the diamond 10 and he would wind up losing the club finesse and the grand slam.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Federal investments in national, state and local parklands through the Land and Water Conservation Fund rose to about $696 million by March 31, 1971. The World Almanac notes. About half of the fund was for acquisition of 866,200 acres of lands for national parks, forests and wildlife refuges; the remainder went to state and local outdoor recreation projects.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Athletics Can Aid Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Lamb—A recent column of yours interested me. The reader asked whether participation in athletics shortened one's life span. Let me give you a personal history. I was born September 8, 1912 and have been athletic ever since. In Toronto on April 27, 1971, I played in the hockey game between the Canada Packers of Toronto and the Canada Department of Agriculture. I was on the line with my two sons who were 18 and 19 years old. Our line accounted for 5 of the 11 goals for an 11-0 win over the Canada Packers. When you add back to 1912 you can determine that I was 58 years old at the time. I think that my history is proof that if you take care of your diet and health, athletics will not shorten life.

As an example of one of my weekends: I played a round of golf Saturday and a five-inning game of softball on Sunday, and on Monday two sets of tennis. I hope this information will be useful to any young people interested in an athletic career.

Dear Reader—I am putting your letter in the column because it is a good example of the point that a person who starts out

MODERN MOSCOW demonstrates that city life is looking up behind the Iron Curtain. Modern highrises lining Kalinin Avenue almost overpower the onetime high-point of the capital's skyline, the tower of Moscow University, a reminder of the former Soviet preference for "wedding cake" Stalinist architecture.

Education Opportunity for Veterans

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Between three and four million veterans of the Vietnam war era have failed to pick up a $6,300 educational windfall waiting for them, Veterans Administration statistics show.

In an effort to induce veterans to use programs to acquire an education or improve job skills, the American Association of Junior Colleges and the American Legion have organized Veterans Outreach, a program to contact each returning veteran and make him aware of the opportunity.

After World War II the GI bill provided tuition, books and a living allowance for veterans, which increased if they were married. The present veterans law pays $175 a month for a maximum of 36 months, or $6,300 total, to attend school or get on-job training. There are bills pending in Congress to up the ante to at least $200 a month.

Since 1965, more than 5.5 million veterans eligible for educational benefits have been discharged, the association said, but only about two million have used them.

Educational benefits are the legal right of every veteran for eight years after discharge, the AAJC said, but because of the law's wording any veteran, even one discharged as far back as Jan. 31, 1965, has until May 31, 1974, to pick up the benefits.

The association-Legion program will work this way: The legion will provide 400 junior colleges with the names of servicemen discharged each month in their area. Schools using vet-students will contact each returning GI and urge him to come to the school for counseling and testing.

Dr. John P. Mallan, director of program services and veterans at the association's headquarters, said about 72,000 men are released from the services each month.

Mallan estimates that 20 per cent of returning servicemen are not high school graduates and that another 30 per cent are in need of some formal education or training to qualify for civilian jobs.

The Name of The Game Is Prestige

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — While you have been busy studying your navel, have you let some of the finer things in life pass you by?

The world is a parade, and it is up to you to find and keep your place in it. One name of the game is prestige, and how is yours faring?

A little self-examination is necessary to check up on yourself now and then to be sure that your social status is kept properly inflated. Otherwise, you're in for bumpy times.

Here is a handy little guide to help see how you stand.

Everything is A-okay with you if:

You have a direct phone to the White House, and most of the calls on it originate from HIS end of the line.

When the gold facet on your bathtub springs a leak, you call in a jeweler instead of a plumber.

Walter Cronkite calls you for advice when he's uncertain as to how to pronounce a word.

You have figured out a fool-proof way to cheat at church bingo and haven't been caught.

Your wife and two mistresses are all the best of friends.

A wealthy foundation pays you $50,000 a year to consult you on whom to give its money to next.

Your country club has just voted to name its annual $200,000 golf tournament after you.

Now, how about the other side of the picture? How to tell whether your status has been slipping?

Certainly it is time to start worrying seriously if:

Your bill collectors are so sorry for you they have taken up a collection among themselves to help you get back on your feet.

The patches on the elbows of your favorite old sports jacket are made of imitation leather.

If you drop a dollar bill in the offering plate during church services, the usher halts and gives you back 90 cents in change.

The people in the state welfare office know you well enough to call you by a nickname.

Well, man, let's face it you have skidded off Skid Row and landed in the gutter. The only way left is up.

THINGS WERE QUIET
CINCINNATI (AP) — One of Sparky Anderson's favorite stories is about the quiet winter spent by the manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

"It got so lonesome one day," Anderson said, "I dialed my own number and then ran upstairs to answer the call."

The Reds tied for fourth in the National League west last season after winning the division and the pennant in 1970.
